"J" HOP SEASON'S FINEST PARTY

The big social event in the lives of the Juniors of the Grayling high school is the "J" hop, and Friday night of last week occurred that function, given by the Class of 1920.

To say it was a fine party would be but mildly expressing it. The party was in keeping with the high dignity of school affairs and lacked nothing in the way of decorations, music and social pleasure. The class of 1920 intended that there would be nothing cheap about their party and from the selecting of the party invitations to the time that the last guest left the dance floor everything was done to live up to the standard they had adopted.

The decorations were carried out in the class colors—green and white. There was a canopy of green and white crepe paper hanging in successive graceful drapes from the center of the ceiling to the side walls of the enormous school gymnasium, above which shone many electric lights making a pleasing effect below. Intertwined in the wire netting surrounding the balcony were sprays of pine and balsam. And at one end of the room in white letters "20" displayed on a green background proclaimed the class of that year, and at the other end a large American flag adorned the wall. A wall of evergreens separated a small space near the entrance within which were many comfortable chairs and rockers where the dancers, when they found time from the dances, might rest and visit. The evergreens were ornamented by many tiny lighted electric lights. The floor was lighted by several handsome floor lamps.

The dance was on promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The orchestra, Cooley's Novelty Saxophone of nine pieces, Bay City, furnished the music. It consisted of seven saxophones, piano and traps. The dancing continued until about 3:00 o'clock the next morning.

At about midnight a luncheon was served in the hall of the basement. About 75 at a time sat down at one long table. This was decorated with vases of white carnations and ferns. There was a dainty streamer of myrtle running the entire length of the table. The lighting was by a number of handsome electric table lamps. Altogether the effect was very pretty. The serving was done by several girls of the Junior high, each dressed in white and wearing a small green apron and white cap edged in pink with a letter "J" in the crown.

There was a nice crowd present and throughout the whole party everything was delightful and all had a most enjoyable evening. Almost everyone had words of commendation for the party and the delightful manner in which it was conducted. The class of 1920 may well feel proud of this their "J" hop and we are sure that the efforts put forth by these young people are fully appreciated by those who were privileged to be present.

FREDERICK W. FENTON GIVEN HIGH HONOR.

Presented with Resolutions and Chest Of Silver.

At a meeting in the state senate chamber at Lansing, Mich., attended by the men and women chairmen, and district organizers of the Michigan War Loan organization, Frederick R. Fenton, director of sales for the state, a resident of Chicago, was presented with a set of resolutions commencing his services on behalf of the people of Michigan in the five Liberty loan campaigns. He also was presented with a chest of silver inscribed with the official seal of Michigan. The presentation of the silver chest was made by Arthur Vandenberg, of Grand Rapids.

Governor Sleeper and other state officials were present at the meeting. Mr. Fenton has directed all of the Liberty Loan campaigns in Michigan, and the state has made an excellent record in each loan campaign under his direction. In the present Liberty Loan campaign, the state claims the honor of being the first state in the union to make its quota, which virtually was secured the first day of the drive.

CORRECT METHOD OF SALUTING THE FLAG.

As prescribed by military authorities and as taught in the schools, it is as follows:

"At the approach of the flag raise the right hand smartly till the tip of the forefinger touches the lower part of the forehead above the right eye, thumb and forefingers extended and joined, palm to the left, forearm inclined to about forty-five degrees, hand and wrist straight. At the same time look toward the flag. When it has passed drop the arm smartly to the side."

K. OF C. NEW CLUB ROOMS OPENED

OVER 250 PARISHIONERS ENJOYED OPENING AFFAIR.

The fine new club rooms of the Knights of Columbus Council of Grayling in the Burke Garage were informally opened to the parishioners of St. Mary's church last Thursday evening. This was an affair to which all were invited from the youngest to the oldest of the family. A general good time was in store for everyone and from reports all had an ample amount of pleasure.

At six o'clock the ladies of the Altar society and others served a fine two course dinner. There were eight tables in one of the large rooms of the club, and at these twelve were seated at one time. The tables were adorned with bouquets of cut flowers and the electric light bulbs that hung overhead were covered with red crepe paper shades making the room look very pretty. Covers were laid for 250 and the dinner was nicely served by a number of the young ladies.

At 8:30 o'clock, Clark's orchestra struck up a waltz and soon the lodge room, which is a spacious one and is to be used for dancing also, was filled with happy dancers both old and young. There were the old fashioned dances, and many took part in this costume that evening, that hadn't danced in years, but many of them were as graceful if not more so than the younger folks. This room was also pretty well lighted and the dancing ceased, and the happy crowd broke up and departed for their homes. Also on this evening Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crowley, who moved from Grayling to Cheboygan recently were present. It was during Lenten season when the family left the city, and no time for social affairs, so on this evening, they were invited to come to Grayling for the affair. Mrs. Crowley, who had been secretary-treasurer of the Altar society for a number of years was presented with a beautiful gold rosary from the ladies of this society, while Mr. Crowley was presented with a gold pocket knife from the committeemen of St. Mary's church, he having been a member of the church committee at different times during the family's residence in Grayling. He also was presented with a set of gold cuff links from the Knights of Columbus.

The K. of C. club rooms are without a doubt the finest in Grayling and when entirely completed and furnished will be one of the most comfortable and homelike clubs between Bay City and Mackinaw. The suite comprises seven rooms, two of which are large rooms, one to be used as a lodge room. The other large room is fitted up with card tables, pool and billiard tables for the use and pleasure of the members. The remaining rooms are smaller, one already fitted up for a kitchen with oil stoves, dishes and kitchen utensils, one with comfortable chairs as a place where members can gather for social chats, etc. The other rooms will be fitted up soon for various purposes. The furniture for the lodge room has not yet arrived but is expected any day.

The Council now has 56 new members in Grayling, besides 30, who are already members of councils outside of Grayling, but who have transferred to the local organization. They have also secured a number in Frederic and next Sunday a drive for membership will be made in Roscommon, and they expect that at the time of initiation they will have reached the one hundred mark. The initiation of the new members will take place during the latter part of May at which time, there will be teams here from outside places.

"LEAGUE OF PLANETS" ON MAY 10 WILL HOLD ONE STORMY SESSION.

"Don't put away your umbrellas and overcoats. There will be rain in May over most parts of the United States."

That is the ultimatum issued for May by the League of Planets which has been formed out in space.

We are the mandarins of the league—we human beings with crops to protect, floods to control and base ball games to attend.

An important meeting of the League of Planets is set for May 10. Jupiter, Saturn, Mars, Venus, Uranus and the Earth will issue their electro-magnetic commands to the Sun. Storms, quakes and volcanic eruptions on Earth will result.

The sunspots created on May 10 will be huge and powerful. They will be strong enough to overcome the fact that winter has departed. They will cause the birth of a storm off Vancouver that will probably be felt southward along the Pacific coast. Its main track will cross the country to the lake states and the east.

The storm will strike the Pacific coast May 11-14, following a warm wave. The central states will have rainstorms and electrical displays May 14-17. The Atlantic coast will have heavy winds May 15-19.

That league session of May 10 will also cause earthquakes and severe ones, from Italy to Palestine and from Central America to Chile, about May 15-21.

Venus, who causes both domestic and volcanic eruptions, will command some heavy lava-flows as the result of that same meeting. They will affect Lassen, Vesuvius and other volcanoes between May 15 and 21—Grand Rapids Press May 2.

MASTERS OF HIGH FINANCE

New England Youngsters Raised Hawks From Eggs and Collected Remunerative Bounty.

Freetown, Mass., will break a long-standing custom this year and pay no bounty on the hawk. After a long and heated session of the town fathers at Assonet it was unanimously agreed that the debt side of Freetown budget had been taken too heavily by this item when Moderator Nichols disclosed the leak in the town's financial condition. "Every spring when the nests of the hawks are filled with eggs," explained the moderator, "the country boys shinned the trees, took out the eggs, carried them home, put them under setting hens and hatched them out, and thus raised numerous young hawks at no cost whatever. Then the boys clipped their wings to keep them home, and when they had grown full size killed them, took them to the town office and obtained their bounties."

Toluol Output.
To give an approximate idea of the scope of this industry, one need only compare the small output of pure toluol in 1912 and 1913, for which years it was approximately 500,000 gallons, with the estimated output for the year just past (1918), during which period it is hoped that the output will have exceeded 20,000,000 gallons. Practically all of this increase has been possible because of the recovery of toluol from coke-oven gas and city supplies.

Postum First Found Favor In the Small Communities

then in the cities, then in the nation's great metropolitan centers, until today it is demanded everywhere, and sold everywhere, as America's greatest health drink for table use. You can get from your grocer

The Original POSTUM CEREAL

Boil it just like coffee—15 minutes after boiling begins.

It doubles the enjoyment of the meal with its rich, invigorating flavor; and, unlike coffee, it never upsets nerves, stomach or heart. Children as well as grown folks can drink Postum freely.

"Ah, Sister Smallways," began Rev. O. Goode Evans, who was making a pastoral visit, "when spring comes, don't you know, I fancy we all hear the call of the wild, and—"

"Thunder and guns!" howled an agonized voice from three rooms beyond. "Great Godfrey's cordial! Ethel, come quick!"

"Mercy! What was that?" asked the clergyman.

"The call of the wild," replied the housewife. "My husband is taking down a stove."—Kansas City Star.

"O'wan! If he was pertickler, he wouldn't be yer frind."

Wept a Profiteer.
There was a man in our town. Who had one war-time fear. That he couldn't keep the price wedged up. So he wept a profiteer.

Interpreting the Bard.
"What's Professor Diggs doing these days?"

"He says he's indulging in a Shakespearean orgy."

"Ah! A mild form of dissipation."

"Not in Professor Diggs' case. He never dips into one of Shakespeare's plays without first fortifying himself with a dozen volumes of critical comment."

Diplomacy to the Winds.
Kid—Paw wants to know, Mr. Jones, if you'll trust him for a 15-pound turkey bill pay night?

Butcher (amused)—He didn't say that?

Kid—Well, not exactly. All he wants is two pounds of pork sausage, but I thought I'd begin high and then come down bit by bit if you proved stubborn.

Such is Life.
"Man is a creature of routine. Goes to work and then goes home."

"That's right. If Shakespeare were to come along we'd be glad to see him, but what would we do with him?"

"Dunno. Get him to autograph the family volume of his plays and then close the book."

Poor Apple.
Tom—Jim told her father that he, Jim, was the apple of his daughter's eye.

Dick—What did her father do?

Tom—Convinced Jim into a poker game and skinned him.

"What is the difference between a modern celebrating laborer and a successful rider in the ancient tournaments?"

"One takes a day off while the other took some knights off."

Drew a Dummy.
Hostess—I'm sorry you found Miss Biggie a poor conversationalist.

Jack—Poor conversationalist? She's absolutely the limit! Why the only thing she said to me the entire evening was "no," and I had to propose to her to get her to say that.

Inevitable Outcome.
Husband—When the men came about the house fittings, what happened?

Wife—We had a heated argument over the furnace.

Redeeming Trait.
She—At least, there is one thing to the credit of Annaliss.

He—What is that?

She—When he was caught in the act of lying, he didn't say he couldn't help it; it was all Sapphira's fault.

Her Idea.
"Don't you think it is extravagant in you to buy both yourself and your husband gold-handled silk umbrellas?"

"No, I am doing it on the economical principle of putting up something for a rainy day."

Can't Withdraw U. S. Court Case.

Washington—The common law rule that either party to an arbitration agreement may withdraw at his pleasure is not applicable to industrial controversies, the War Labor Board ruled in refusing to grant the Akin-Erskine Milling Co., of Evansville, Ind., the privilege of withdrawing a labor dispute from the board's consideration. The effect of the decision is that employers and workers having made a joint submission to the board, must await its award.

America's War Expenses Mounting.

Washington—Nearly six months after the signing of the armistice, America's war expenses are not only continuing without abatement, but actually are increasing over those of the last few months. This was shown by a treasury report of government outlays for April, amounting to approximately $1,420,000,000, of which about two-thirds went to pay the nation's direct war bills and one-third went to the Allies to enable them to pay obligations in this country.

"DER TAG" IN SPECIAL HONOR

One Place, at Least, Where Kultur Evidently is Appreciated at Its Real Worth.

Arney—I heard they held a shellebration in hades in honor of Germany on the day the armistice was signed.

Barney—So? Please give the details.

Arney—Well, Mr. Satan presided in the capacity of roastermaster.

Barney—Indeed? What did he say?

Arney—In his speech he informed the company that he had that day sent a 'thellegram of congrat'hellation to the Kaiser, advising him that even if the place in the sun were wanting, he could furnish a substitute.

Barney—And how did the banquet conclude?

Arney—The whole company gave three rocks and a salamander, and drank the health of Wilhelm.—Cartoon Magazine.

All Written by Women.

An Indiana teachers' federation has, to some of the male members' chagrin, a woman for its president. Of course some of them try to show their superiority—particularly one, who the other day was arguing that women knew so little about parliamentary drill that they were not fitted for the positions of superior officers.

The young woman listened, smiled and then said, "Well, I'm willing to learn."

Magnanimously the man offered to buy her a book on the subject. They entered a book store, made known their request, and the clerk laid down on the counter before them four books, saying that they were the only books on the subject she had. They began to examine them and lo—all four were written by women.—Indianapolis Star.

His Reception.

"Brother, I am a disciple of the New Freedom," announced a bewhiskered and unwashed gent, approaching the fence over which Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark., was comfortably draped.

"Say you—p'tu—are?" nonchalantly returned Mr. Johnson.

"Yes! We bolshevik believe in the rule of the proletariat. The rich must divide their ill-gotten honors with us. We will take by force—"

"Hi! Hunt!" called the householder to one of his numerous progeny. "Skin into the house and fetch me my gun. I'm going to divide the buckshot in it with this yur hairy cuss, and—Well, I'll be dogged, if he ain't mighty nigh to the head of the road, already!"—Kansas City Star.

Diamonds in United States.

Diamond cutting in the United States dates back to 1873. In that year $176,423 worth of rough stones were imported. Importations remained at low figures until 1913, when they reached a value of $2,517,759. They rose steadily during the war from $1,151,633 in 1914, and $3,353,180 in 1915, to $11,443,129 in 1916, $11,717,175 in 1917 and $12,928,010 in the first eight months of 1918. These values represent rough diamonds and illustrate the rapid growth of the cutting industry in this country.

Ideal Situation.

"Marriage," said the female lecturer on women's rights, "should be a business contract, with the husband and wife equal members of the firm."

"Yes'm," remarked the meek little man. "That's just the way it is at our house. I am the senior partner in the firm and my wife is the buyer."

Highly Interesting.

"The Japanese are a wonderful little people."

"They are more than wonderful," replied the diplomat. "They are not content to keep you wondering. They keep you guessing."

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Clergy Asserts Itself.

Clergymen in Great Britain may strike for higher wages. At a recent conference of the Southwell diocese at Derby, the bishop delivered ultimatum to certain missionaries who asked that a minister be appointed for their churches. The bishop has refused to assign pastors for the parishes until they have assured him they will have a house and adequate food. Eight of the parishes of the diocese recently were combined into one.

The question of poor church wages has kept many aspirants to the ministry from being ordained and the church hierarchy has been asked not to establish any more $1,000 a year parishes.

IT'S NO SECRET

Probably no man in America was ever better qualified to successfully treat the disease peculiar to women than Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. The cases that come to him run into many thousands, giving him an experience that rarely comes to any one man. Dr. Pierce found that in nearly every case there were certain vegetable growths which rarely failed to give prompt relief in those feminine disorders from which so many women suffer. He combined these roots and herbs into a temperance medicine that he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is sold in both liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. A weakly, sickly, backache, headache, nervous, despondent woman, with regular or irregular pains—with feminine disorders that come in youth or middle age—is pretty sure to find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the exact remedy that her condition calls for.

County Agent W. F. Johnston of Crawford and Roscommon counties has succeeded in landing a convention of the County agents of Northern Michigan to meet in conference in Grayling July 17 and 18. He says that Petoskey and Traverse City were strong after the convention for their cities and he feels that Grayling is very fortunate in having been selected. The northern district comprises 16 counties. This being the mid-summer session the members will bring their wives and make the event one of pleasure as well as business. It is expected that a large crowd will be present and that State directors will be among them. It is contemplated to combine this affair with a county farmers' picnic to be held at Lake Margrethe.

Considerable interest was stirred up first of the week when a Mr. Follett of Detroit, who is a member of the State Fish commission, arrived in the city bringing three live Grayling fish. These he had caught in Otter river in the Upper Peninsula. The fish were placed in a bath tub at Shoppengans Inn with running water. Scores of people visited the place to take a look at this species of the finny tribe that once were more numerous in the Ausable rivers than the trout are at the present time. It has been many years since Grayling have been caught in the local streams. Mr. Follett was taking the fish to Detroit just to convince some of the "curious ones in that city that Grayling were not extinct in Michigan. The specimen he had were beauties and seemed as alive and healthy as when they were in their native stream.

MOTHERS' DAY PROCLAMATION
(By the Governor.)

If ever there was a time to yield homage to the mothers of our land that time is now. The spirit of devotion and sacrifice and service they manifested during long months of cruel war is beyond all praise. With aching hearts they gave their sons to die, if need be, that our cherished liberties might be preserved, but they hid the ache and the pain and went bravely and calmly about their allotted tasks. This year then of all years, when peace has come to bless the world, we should thankfully observe the day that is specially marked in honor of the mothers of America, living and dead.

And let us rejoice with them that do rejoice and weep with those that weep. Many a Michigan mother's heart will sing with joy as our Michigan boys return from afar; and we joy with them in their joy. There will be many a mother too, alas, whose heart will bridge the seas and journey to find a dear grave in Flanders, or in France, or in far Archangel, there to place a wreath of loving remembrance for the boy who will not come back; and to these mourning mothers we tender our deepest sympathy, while we sorrow with them in their sorrow.

Therefore, that we may pay a special tribute of affection to the mothers who still live and honor the memory of those who have gone from us, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby designate and set aside

Sunday, May Eleventh next, as Mothers' Day.

And I call upon our people, both young and old, to gather in their several places of worship and take part in services appropriate to the day, and, by the wearing of a red flower for the living mother and a white for the dear departed, to symbolize their love and reverence for the mothers of the nation.

Let me suggest too that absent sons and daughters take this occasion to visit, if possible the mother in the old home, or where such a visit is impossible, that they send a message of cheer and greeting. By this many mothers know that in the rush of affairs they are not forgotten.

In accordance with a resolution of the Congress of the United States, I further request the people of Michigan on the day aforesaid to display the United States flag in their homes and in other suitable places, as a fitting expression of their desire to pay homage to American motherhood.

Albert E. Sleeper,
Governor.

WAS IN MISERY

Mrs. Jones Was in Serious Condition From Dropsy. Doan's Made Her Well.

"I don't think many have gone through such misery as I," says Mrs. C. Jones, 130 Federal St., Burlington, N. J. "That awful pain in my back felt as though my spine were crushed. My head ached and I had feeling and falling sensations when everything would turn black. Though the kidney secretions passed ten or fifteen times in an hour, only a few drops came at a time and they felt like boiling water. I soon found I had dropsy. I bloated all over. My face was so swollen I could hardly see out of my eyes. My ankles and feet felt as though they would burst if I put any weight on them. My night clothes became wringing wet with sweat and I would get chilly and shake all over. Doan's Kidney Pills soon had me feeling like a different woman. My kidneys were regulated and all the swelling went away. The aches and pains left me and after I had finished my eighth box of Doan's, I was as well as ever. My kidneys have never bothered me since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

At Princeton they tell of a freshman who, as he blithely went his way whistling on the streets one day, was accosted by a classmate: "Whither away?"

"I'm going up to Doctor Smith's to be examined for appendicitis," said the other.

"Great Caesar!" exclaimed the classmate, "you don't seem to be very much worried about it."

"Oh, no," said the freshman, "there won't be anything doing. I've never been able to pass an examination the first time in all my fair young life."—Everybody's Magazine.

At Failure's Climax

At Failure's Climax

By S. B. HACKLEY

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Maxon Elliot stepped out on the platform to make his ringing commencement speech and Jessamine Farrar felt the scrutiny of many pairs of eyes, friendly, curious, sympathetic, she held her head high. Who wouldn't be proud to be the sweetheart of a "brilliant promise?"

He wasn't the valetudinarian, that conciliated, red-haired Walton Durrett was that, but Maxon's rank was high, and with his brown mop of curly hair, his goodly height and his clear, friendly eyes, was he not good to look at?

That evening after young Elliot had gone out with Judge Farrar's eldest daughter, his honor sat a long time in silent thought. For nearly three years Maxon Elliot had been Jessamine's humble worshiper, and Durrett, the self-confident valetudinarian, had been her devoted admirer.

Durrett was one whom one would naturally expect to do things, and Elliot was a young man of brilliant promise. The judge's preference inclined to the latter, but he or any other would have to "make good" before he'd give his little girl to him.

The judge sighed thankfully. Jessamine would always listen to "Father." A little later when she shyly suggested that at the end of Max's first school year in Marion (he'd been given the principalship of Marion's academy), there would be a wedding, the judge shook his head.

A year is all too short, little girl. Let him prove himself.

Jessamine smiled certainly. "Two years if you think best, papa—but when Max is a university president, we'll laugh about our caution, won't we?"

The Marion school board, at the end of the year, very quietly asked Professor Elliot to resign. It was not that he was not liked—his thoughtful consideration, his gentle courteous manner, made friends, but somehow he had failed as the school's principal.

That summer, through the recommendation of a relative, Elliot secured the editorship of the local paper in the large town of Hampton. For a year he wrote brilliant editorials, and struggled valiantly to build up the circulation of the paper, but at the end of the year the owner asked another man to take the editorship.

Then when Jessamine, with her sister and parents, sailed for three years of foreign travel, Max understood that he was free.

When the three years were at an end and he heard the Farrars were coming home, he managed somehow to scrape together enough for a ticket to New York.

His was the first face that Jessamine recognized on the pier. For an instant her heart bounded and despite the old-world wisdom she had gained, she had to fight a foolish impulse to lay her head on the shabby decency of his serge coat and tell him, among other things, that failure in business didn't matter.

But Fulton Newholdt, who for six months had followed in their wake, was looking on and presently Elliot was forced to step aside to make way for their other friends.

"Strange that Maxon Elliot should have happened to be in New York the very day that we landed," the judge remarked.

Jessamine said nothing. She knew it hadn't "just happened." Max had traveled those 800 miles just for a sight of her! Well, he'd had it, and she—

The day after they reached her home Newholdt, who was their guest, asked her to marry him.

Instead of saying, "Yes, please," as she had contemplated, and as she knew would delight her father and mother, she found herself saying very earnestly, "No, thank you."

It was four years before she saw Max again, and it was at the county fair.

"I've been out West," he told her, "sort of knocking about, but I'm doing some bookkeeping work for my cousin now, at the mills. His regular man had to stop awhile because of ill health."

He spoke cheerfully, but his mouth wore a subdued, conquered expression that was pathetic.

"Rob keeps me very busy, but I begged off today to run down here on the chance of seeing some of my old college friends," he remarked; but Jessamine looked into his wistful eyes and translated his words: "On the chance of seeing you, dear, on the chance of seeing you."

Just then the red-haired valetudinarian, now a successful lawyer and politician, stopped to speak to Jessamine.

"Pity about Elliot's being a disap-

HOW MUCH RISK TO ASSUME

First Thing to Be Decided on When One Is Contemplating an Investment.

The first thing for investors to decide is the amount of risk they can afford to take with their funds, says World's Work. This will depend on the purpose which they had in mind when the funds were accumulated and on the conditions that will surround the investment. If one is laying up savings to take care of himself in his old age, he is not really a trustee of those savings for the old person he is, is it not the same? But if the money is being accumulated with the view of taking advantage of a business opportunity, it is different. Or if one is in close touch with conditions in a certain business, he might be justified in taking risks in that field which would be improper for one ignorant of conditions to take. The degree of risk that one is justified in taking must be largely decided by the investor himself, alpointment," he remarked when Maxon had taken himself off. "All vision and no practicability. The wonder is he hasn't married and dragged some woman down, too! His kind generally do."

Jessamine's heart grew hot with unreasoning anger, but she laughed. "And you, Sir Knight?"

Durrett bowed low. "I'm waiting until I have a position to offer a woman."

"There's a gubernatorial election next year," she advanced tentatively. He smiled in return. "And the holopoli will, who knows, Fair Lady?"

The next year Maxon Elliot at the fair told Jessamine he'd got the place as postmaster at Harper several months before. "So," he added, "maybe I can spare the money to run over and see Durrett inaugurated governor in December. His election's a sure thing. Will you be there?" he ended, a trifle wistfully.

"I—I've promised—I think so," she answered.

Max understood her embarrassment, and the look of defeat that had temporarily raised itself settled back over his face.

In November, Durrett was elected governor of the state. Judge and Mrs. Farrar prepared to give their daughter a very handsome wedding.

"Maxon Elliot to be tried by the United States court for fraud in the Harper postoffice!" These words confronted Jessamine one day when she picked up the paper.

"Too had a perfectly innocent fellow gets himself in a place to be technically guilty of crime, and liable to the penitentiary," her cousin, Will Payne, remarked, looking over her shoulder at her startled cry. "I've heard about it. Seems a discharged clerk's twisted some papers some way, so the blame falls on the postmaster."

"Max Elliot's been adjudged guilty, and they're going to send him to prison, Jessy," Payne told her a few days later, "unless the President pardons him. Seems his friends are getting up a petition."

Jessamine fled to her room.

"A lady wishes you to call to see her at once, sir," a messenger boy said to Maxon Elliot, two weeks afterward, when he was going to his room at his hotel, after a satisfactory interview with the nation's chief executive.

When he went to the address given a figure in a blue traveling suit ran across the room, and then Jessamine Farrar was clinging to him, crying softly, "Oh, Max!—Max, dear!"

"Why, Jessy—Jessy?" Astonishment wrapped him. "What is the matter?" "Oh, Max, I want you!" she sobbed. "I want you!"

Maxon's heart, racing with the wild happiness of her weight against it, overcame him, and in spite of himself, for an instant, his arms went about her and held her tight; then he remembered.

"You are going to marry Governor Durrett, Jessy?"

"I'm not going to marry Walton Durrett—unless—unless you don't want me, Max."

"But I—!" poor Max stammered—"I'm a failure!—I'm disgraced!—I'd be in prison but for the president's kindness. Surely, Jessy, you don't understand."

"I do!" she interrupted. "It's taken this to tell me where my heart's been all these years! If they'd sent you to prison, and you'd have let me, I would have married you on the prison steps! Kiss me, Max!"

Max kissed her, then held her away from him with a groan.

"Oh, love, I can't—I can't let you do it!"

But she was not listening. "Oh, Max," she smiled, "I'm so glad grandmother left me her home and so much of her money. It's invested safely—we can live on the income. You—you don't have to try to make money—you can study and write—and—make me happy! If you won't go with me and hunt up a minister I'll go home and marry the governor and live miserably ever after."

And Max went.

How Lloyd George Keeps Fit

Few men have ever had to bear such a heavy burden as the prime minister has had to carry during the last three months. A general election, a peace conference and industrial trouble—each would have meant an epoch in the private life of a premier. How does Lloyd George manage to keep so cheery and fit? An interesting light on this point is thrown by the fact that recently Mr. Lloyd George has several times strolled into a room occupied by his staff and asked if the girl secretaries had any amusing novel there. He has picked up some light literature and gone off to read it quietly for half an hour or so as a distraction from more serious affairs.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Only Real Failure.

Because a fellow has failed once or twice, or a dozen times, you don't want to set him down as a failure till he's dead or loses his courage—and that's the same thing—George H. Lorimer.

Wise people respect the man; fools respect good clothes.

Opportunity Overlooked.

It is strange that the sublime and awe-inspiring beauty of the Rocky mountains, with their marvelous canyons, impetuous, dashing streams, shadowy pools and exquisite valleys, should not have inspired romantic names. The very atmosphere of the locality casts a spell over any man or woman in whose composition is woven the thinnest thread of poetic fancy, yet the names Mount St. Elias, Mount Shasta, Mount Hooker, Mount Brown, Pike's peak and so on are as practical as the lettering on grocery boxes and suggest about as much romance as the word washday. Even Zebulon M. Pike, the man for whom the great peak was named, would appear to have had nothing more to say about it than to express his opinion that to human beings could ascend to its pinnacle.

Daily Thought.

There's place and means for every man alive.—Shakespeare.

TIME TO IMPROVE PASTURES

Clean Up by Cutting Off Brush, Briars and Weeds—Reseeding Bare Spots Is Favored.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Spring is the desirable time of year for the improvement of pastures. Large areas of permanent pasture would respond to proper methods of improvement which might include the following:

Keep the pastures clean by cutting off brush, briars and weeds. Large stumps, stones and dead trees should also be removed.

Those areas used for pasture that would permit harrowing and disking at the time of reseeding, applying lime, fertilizers and manure, etc., may be greatly benefited. In some sections terracing may be practiced with satisfactory results.

The application of lime, acid phosphate and manure can always be relied upon in most sections as a means of adding the necessary increased fertility.

Reseeding, particularly in bare spots, is to be recommended. White and Japan clover, bermuda, herds grass, carpet grass and blue grass in favored sections are commonly used. As a rule reseeded pastures should be lightly grazed the first year. At all times it is advisable to keep the cattle off the grass in the spring until well started. Closer grazing during the rest of the season may be practiced where this has been done. It is also advisable to turn cattle off the pasture earlier in the fall than is commonly practiced.

Work Done in the Spring to Improve Pastures Will Insure Greater Supply of Feed Later.

DAIRY COW IS ECONOMICAL

Utilizes Coarse Materials, Inedible to Humans, and Turns Them Into Food Material.

Two facts stand out prominently as reasons for the increased production and use of milk. The first is that milk as purchased on the market usually supplies food material together with the growth-producing elements more economically than either meat or eggs. The second reason is that the dairy cow is the most economical producer of animal food. One great law of food conservation is to turn inedible feeds into edible foods in the cheapest possible manner. The dairy cow will utilize coarse materials, inedible to humans—such as grass, cornstalks and hay—and will turn them into milk. Other farm animals also are converters of coarse roughage into edible foods, but are not so efficient as the dairy cow.

GOOD FOR SCOURS IN CALF

Mixture of Formaldehyde and Water Is Recommended—Cut Down the Amount of Milk Fed.

This is good for scours in calves: One ounce of formaldehyde (use 40 per cent formaldehyde), 16 ounces of water, mix, give one teaspoonful for each pound of milk fed to calf, stir in the milk. Cut down on the amount of milk being fed. This for two feeds is generally enough. Follow with two-ounce dose of castor oil if constipated.

FEED GRAIN TO YOUNG CALF

When Changed From Whole to Skimmed Milk Little Grain Should Be Put in Youngster's Mouth.

When the calf is changed from whole milk to skim milk, it will begin to eat grain. Place a little grain in its mouth after each feeding of milk. It will soon learn to eat the grain without assistance. The grain should not be fed with the milk. The calf should be allowed to masticate the grain.

TO PREVENT DISEASE GERMS

Healthy, Tuberculin-Tested Cows Are First Essentials—Pure Water Is Important.

To prevent the entrance of disease germs into milk, tuberculin-tested cows, free from any udder inflammation or garget, are the first essentials. Healthy men, and pure water from a protected well or spring, are of second importance. Clean utensils covered pails and clean cows come next.

Keynote to Success.

The keynote to success in every branch of the dairy business is improvement somewhere in our work from day to day and from year to year.

Salt for Cows.

Cows should either have free access to salt or be given from three-fourths to one and one-half ounces daily.

Flavor of Butter.

Flavor is one of the first and chief considerations in butter.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Drop Freezone on a touchy corn, then lift that corn off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! No humping! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Discolored Ceilings.

It is frequently found that the ceilings immediately above incandescent mantles become blackened. If white-washed, it can be cleaned by being rubbed over with a mixture of starch and water of the consistency of cream. A soft flannel cloth should be used. When dry gently rub off the starch. The black stain will come with it.

Indigestion, Gas and Bloat From Acid-Stomach

An acid-stomach cannot digest food properly. Instead, the food sours and ferments, and passing into the intestines, becomes a breeding place for countless millions of deadly germs—poisonous bacteria they are called. These poisons are absorbed into the system and cause untold misery. So, you see, it is just acid-stomach, nothing else—that makes so many people weak, listless and unfit, saps their strength and energy; robs them of their vigor and vitality. Blisters, bad liver, nervousness, blinding, splitting headaches, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica—these and many other still more serious ailments often are traced to the common source—an acid-stomach.

Take EATONIC and get rid quickly of the pains of indigestion, heartburn, that horrible, lumpy, bloated feeling after eating; disgusting, belching, food-repeating; sour, gassy stomach. These stomach miseries are caused by what doctors call "Hyperacidity." It's just ACID-STOMACH. And in addition to the pains and miseries it causes, ACID-STOMACH is the starter of a long train of ailments that most people never dreamed are in any way connected with the stomach.

Pleasant, tasting EATONIC. LET'S that you eat like a bit of candy, quickly put an end to your stomach troubles. They act as an absorbent—literally wipe up the excess harmful acid and make the stomach pure, sweet and strong. Help digestion so that you get all the power and energy from your food. You cannot be well without it!

If you are one of those who have "tried everything" but in spite of it still suffer all kinds of acid-stomach miseries—if you lack physical and mental strength and vigor—begin at once to take EATONIC. Get back your physical and mental punch and enjoy the good things of life. Like thousands of others you will say you never dreamed that such amazingly quick relief and such a remarkable improvement in your general health was possible.

Your druggist has EATONIC. We authorize him to guarantee it to give you instant relief or refund your money. Get a big box of EATONIC today. It costs but little and the results are wonderful!

"Cepatomtegoatating"
Schoolmasters have often serious problems to solve. The following note, containing only one word, was recently handed to a Thonet pedagogue: "Cepatomtegoatating."

The missive was tendered by one of the boys on behalf of a neighbor's child. The schoolmaster was nonplussed for the moment. But he had received too many weirdly worded notes in his time to allow this one to baffle him. Albeit it was not till the work of the school was over and much tobacco had been consumed that the word at last yielded its mystery.

"Kept at home to go a-tarting!"—London Chronicle.

Ever "Catch a Tartar?"

"Catching a Tartar" does not refer to the Tartars around Russia, or rather it does not mean that a Tartar is so very hard to catch. The expression originated a century ago, when the Russians and Tartars were having a little war. A Russian soldier called to his captain that he had caught a Tartar. "Bring him along," replied the captain. The soldier called back: "Yes, but he won't let me." It came out that the Tartar had caught the Russian soldier, and so to this day when a man tries to catch somebody else and himself gets caught he is said to have "caught a Tartar."

Handicap Can Be Overcome.

Misery begets the man who has chosen his work unwisely. He is unhappy for the reason that he knows his blundering choice of a vocation is keeping him from making the most of his talents for his own good and society.

Even so, if he will but cultivate a keener sense of the social value of whatever work he is trying to do, he may gain therefrom a stimulus enabling him to a surprising extent to overcome his vocational handicap, and at the same time giving him the peace of mind he has hitherto lacked.
